JR Rehab Services Inc. Launches At Home Physio Service

JR Rehab Services Inc. has strengthened their community-focused approach to providing rehabilitation and health services by launching at home physiotherapy treatments in the lower mainland.

This new service will allow patients to receive customized one to one physiotherapy services within the comfort and security of their own home, without the need to travel to a clinic.

The dedicated team of physiotherapists is available to assist patients in managing acute and chronic conditions, assessing readiness for active rehab programs, optimizing functional independence and physical performance, rehabilitating injury and effects of disease or disability and preventing reoccurrence, re-injury or functional decline.

“We believe in an accessible, community based approach to rehabilitation and health services. By giving patients the option to receive treatment at home, we are fulfilling a need within the community to help those who are physically unable to leave their home during recovery, have transportation issues or who would simply feel more comfortable having treatment within their home environment,” said JR Rehab Services Inc. founder, Ricardo Nuno.
